Which is the right side of a boxcar Which is the "A" end and which is the "B" end of a car? And should a box-ear, which has contained high explosives, be used to ship other merchan-dise? These and similar questions have to be answered each month by Santa Fe freight agents. They are pupils in the Santa Fe correspondence school and have to turn in a lesson. containing ten answers each month of

The lessons received by the agents in this vicinity are prepared by R. J. Parker, general superintendent of To-The lessons deal with questions such as the above, with seemingly insignificant matters, but which an agent s supposed to be familiar with, and little problems of how to bill certain classes of goods, handle shortages or excesses, consignments of freight sent collect, and practically every situation with which the agents must deal, And a record is kept of the grades and ercentages of correct replies.

Which is the "B" end of a car? Well, it is the one toward which the pistor nt is the one toward which the piston rod in the airbrake travels. The right side of the car is then found by stand-ing in front of the "B" end, and the right side of the car is on the right hand, and the left on the opposite. "Flunk" Just Like College.

The Santa Fe's correspondence school for agents is further supplemented by "personal" instruction each month when the agents on a division meet at some point and discuss all problems egents on the local division meet monthly at Topeka, with the division officers as the professors. The agents present any problems which may arise under their jurisdiction.

The correspondence school method of the Santa Fe is to keep each agent informed of the latest problems which may arise in freight traffic, and it also the officials an opportunity to see how theroughly the agents under-stand their business. If any particular text can be said to be used, it is the "Instructions to Agents," a book of 231 pages. It is as thorough a treatment of the subject as the average college text book on history or science But five years ago this book contained only 114 pages. This shows the care with which the instructions are con timually revised and kept up-to-date.

And so it is that every freight agent on the Santa Fe is enrolled in the comtuition, and a requirement that he make an average in his lessons con-siderably higher than that required for promotion in the public schools.

while in Topeka this week, White intimated that Roosevelt would never consent to such action. He said it might mean the placing of a Third party ticket in the state and urged that the action was unjust and unfair.

"If the courts interpret the law to mean that the names of Taft and Sherman must appear at the head of the Republican column over the hames of the Roosevelt electors," said White, "It may cause more trouble. I am sure Roosevelt will never consent to such action. At the very least, it means I must hold a debate with him on the subject. Perhaps, under such a decision, a Third party ticket in Kansas would become necessary."

As yet Mr. White is unable to state what course would be pursued if the courts should interpret the law to mean that the names of Taft and Sherman must go on the state ticket. He is only certain that it will cause further trouble and complications and He is only certain that it will cause further trouble and complications and the almost positive assurance that the Roosevelt leaders in Kansas would take further action to protect their electoral candidates.

Ericsson and Black Must Depend Upon Supreme Court.

Judge Whitcomb Denies Their Application for New Trial.

A new trial for H. C. Ericsson of To-peka and C. W. Black of Council Grove, convicted of libeling Judge P. B. Gillett of Kingman, will be denied. according to the announcement of Judge George H. Whitcomb, who heard the trial of the case and later heard arguments on motions for a new trial and for an arrest of judgment.

In a lengthy memorandum of his con-clusions, copies of which have been sen:

clusions, copies of which have been sent to attorneys in the case, Judge Whit-comb cites his authorities, and an-nounces his ruling. The denial of the motion will mean an appeal to the supreme court, and as soon as the ruling is entered on the books Judge Whitcomb will be asked for a stay of execution until the appeal can be per-fected.

The denial of the motion will mean an appeal to the supreme court, and as soon as the ruling is entered on the books Judge Whitcomb will be asked for a stay of execution until the appeal can be perfected.

Ericsson and Black, charged with E. C. Wilcox, county attorney of Harper county, of libeling Judge Gillett. were convicted here after one of the most bitterly contested cases in the history of the county. The accused men were charged with a deliberate plot and conspiracy to libel the Kingman judge. The plot included affidavits of the jurist's alleged intimacy with Leta Foster, a 17-year-old girl, according to the charges, that were introduced in evidence, and the truth RYE—No. 2, 70c.

It was on Kansas Day that the trou-ble started. Leta Foster was taken to the National hotel according to the evidence, and later affidavits to the effect that she had visited Judge Gillett's room were made. The stat charged that Miss Foster did not en made. The state ter Judge Gillett's room, and that the velt interests in the injunction suit affidavits were wilfully false. The afpending in the federal court, will leave fidavits were sworn to before R. W Eaton, a notary public, and later were taken out of the city.

The trial of the case was held the middle of June, last, and lasted nearly two weeks. Some of the best legal talent in the state was ranged on each side, and every bit of testimony of-fered by either side was contested. In handing down his conclusions Judge Whitcomb decided that the communications made to County At-torney Ernest R. Simon were not privileged as the defense urged, and tha even if they had been privileged th defendants were not injured by th ounty attorney's testimony, which h held was in line with the testimoly of the defendants themselves. This was the main point of contention. It is likely that the ruling in the case will be handed down officially today, and in the near future sentence may be passed on the two men whom Kaw Valley potatoes, per bu., 55c.

HOME GROWN TOMATOES—Per four besket crate, 50c. Apart from its extraordinary duliness the market presented no features other than increased weakness in Louisville and Nashville and an abrupt decline in woolen preferred.

Business was nominal around midday, but the undertone was better with Union Pacific in favor.

Some inactive specialties moved widely including Omaha and Baldwin Locomotive but the balance of the list was at a standstill.
